IFK_JUNIOR FELLOWSHIP

The IFK_Junior Fellowships are intended for...

young Austrian academics doing their dissertations, as well as for non-Austrian doctoral students who are being supervised at an Austrian university.

The dissertation project must be an interdisciplinary undertaking in the humanities, social sciences or art that addresses the study of culture(s), its issues and methods.

Research projects may, but are not required to, relate to the current IFK research foci.

IFK_Junior Fellowships include...

a monthly grant of €1,650 and a workstation at the IFK with computer and internet access; the receipt of the scholarship is tied to residency at the IFK. Nothing other than minimal part-time employment can be undertaken in addition to the scholarship. The IFK does not cover costs associated with health insurance and or social insurance.

Successful applicants can take part in the IFK_Junior Fellow Abroad Scholarship Programme for the following academic year.

Duration

IFK_Junior Fellowships are granted for one academic year (October 1 to June 30).

Language

Applications can be submitted in either German or English

Required documents

In addition to the completed online application form (you will find the link here once the next application process has started), you must upload the following documents as ONE merged PDF at the end of the online application

- > Dissertation proposal (2,000 words maximum), with your name on the first page (footnotes and if desired, but not necessarily bibliography included!)
- > A short core project bibliography (one page maximum! This is not the bibliography of your proposal, but should give an impression of your key references)
- > A clear justification why the dissertation should be carried out at the IFK
- > An up to date curriculum vitae with a list of academic publications (if applicable)
- > Copy of the degree certificate(s) (scanned)

The application for the IFK_Junior Fellowship is closed (deadline 31 January 2022).

Of course, we cannot know yet whether the Fellowships will take place still in a reduced or partially virtual form due to the Covid-19-measures. However, we have already developed a very good structures to ensure that the Fellowships run smoothly in every case.
