

Aktuelles

Vortrag von Barbara Ungepflegt: „How to survive the day? public schnitzel, bus traffic and other escape attempts“

2021-01-28 12:25

How to survive the day? public schnitzel, bus traffic and other escape attempts by Barbara Ungepflegt

(Presentation @ European Sociological Association Research Network / IV Midterm Conference "Urban Theory and Urban Praxis: Past, Present and Possible Futures", 29.1.2021) "How to survive the day" is the central question posed by the social scientists Laurie Taylor and Stanley Cohen, who in Ausbruchsversuche (1977 ibid.) write about "everyday life, about the uncertainty of this life and about the fragility of identities"...