THEORY, JOYOUS AND UNTIMELY

Rositza Alexandrova

Lecture of IFK_Research Fellow Rositza Alexandrova, November 27, 2017: "What Do Artists Do All Day" is a BBC Four documentary series prudently and pruriently devised to be reality TV's answer to Giorgio Vasari's "Vite". Obliquely, it is a reinterpretation of Richard Scarry's seminal critical enquiry (for ages 3 to 6) "What Do People Do All Day", as it is also the pointedly pecuniary theme of the 2016 Manifesta art biennial: "What Do People Do for Money".
